

TITLE: Revision of State Approval of Teacher Education Program Review Process

The Hawaii Teacher Standards Board approves the following revision of the Hawaii State Approval of Teacher Education (SATE) Reference and Reporting Guide review process for Teacher Education Units and Programs, page 46:

National Review

Hawaii's institutions of higher education (IHEs) must achieve accreditation by a national teacher education accrediting body approved by the U. S. Department of Education and by HTSB. IHEs must contact the HTSB SATE Coordinator for the current HTSB SATE protocol. Institutions must adhere to the following process:

1. All Hawaii State Approved Teacher Education Units must obtain unit and program accreditation from a national teacher education accrediting body approved by the U. S. Department of Education and HTSB and meet any other requirements set forth by HTSB. Receiving national accreditation will allow units and programs to apply for State Approval from HTSB.
2. Specific licensure programs within the Units not reviewed through the national process shall be reviewed by HTSB.
3. A timeline for transitioning to seeking national accreditation is attached. Institutions will have a minimum of four years in which to pursue national accreditation.
4. HTSB will assist institutions by arranging presentations by the accrediting body to familiarize the Units with the process each body conducts. Presentations may be in person or via web seminar at the discretion of the accrediting body. Cost of the presentations will not be incurred by HTSB.
5. All Hawaii Teacher Education Units will be notified of this action by letter within thirty days.
